Order Granting in Part Motions to Dismiss and for Summary Judgment

[ECF Nos. 28, 36]

10
11 Nevada law holds that a properly conducted nonjudicial foreclosure sale by a 12 homeowners' association to enforce a superpriority lien extinguishes the first deed of trust. But 13 when that deed of trust belongs to government-sponsored lender Fannie Mae, and the foreclosure
14 sale occurs while Fannie Mae is under the conservatorship of the Federal Housing Finance 15 Agency and without the agency's consent, federal law shields that security interest from 16 extinguishment.

17 Fannie Mae and its loan servicer Ditech Financial LLC bring this quiet-title action to 18 determine the effect of a 2015 nonjudicial foreclosure sale on the deed of trust securing the 19 mortgage on a home. Because they have shown that the Federal Foreclosure Bar prevented that 20 sale from extinguishing the deed of trust, I grant summary judgment in their favor on their quiet-
21 title claim that is based on that theory. But because their other quiet-title theory—that Nevada's 22 statutory foreclosure scheme was unconstitutional—fails as a matter of law, I grant the 23 foreclosure-purchaser defendant's motion to dismiss that claim.

1 extinguish a first deed of trust.”⁶ But the Federal Foreclosure Bar in 12 U.S.C. § 4617(j)(3) 2 creates an exception to that rule.⁷ This safeguard is contained in the Housing and Economic 3 Recovery Act (HERA, codified at 12 U.S.C. § 4511 et seq.), which went into effect in 2008, 4 established the FHFA, and placed Fannie Mae under that agency’s conservatorship.⁸ Under 5 HERA’s Federal Foreclosure Bar, when Fannie Mae is the beneficiary of the deed of trust at the 6 time of the foreclosure sale and Fannie Mae is under the conservatorship of the FHFA, the deed
7 of trust is not extinguished and instead survives the sale unless the agency affirmatively
8 relinquishes that interest.⁹

9 Fannie Mae and its loan servicer Ditech Financial LLC filed this action against the 10 foreclosure-sale buyer, asserting quiet-title claims based on two independent theories: (1) the 11 Federal Foreclosure Bar prevented the foreclosure sale from extinguishing the deed of trust, and 12 (2) the sale did not extinguish the deed of trust because Nevada’s HOA foreclosure scheme was 13 unconstitutional.¹⁰ These claims are the type of quiet-title claim recognized by the Nevada
14 Supreme Court in Shadow Wood Homeowners Association, Inc. v. New York Community
15 Bancorp—actions “seek[ing] to quiet title by invoking the court’s inherent equitable jurisdiction 16 to settle title disputes.”¹¹ The resolution of such a claim is part of “[t]he long-standing and broad

2 if the circumstances support” it.¹²

3 Fannie Mae and Ditech move for summary judgment, arguing that the Federal 4 Foreclosure Bar prevented the deed of trust from extinguishment.¹³ The Trust opposes the 5 motion¹⁴ and also moves to dismiss this action.¹⁵ I find that Fannie Mae and Ditech have 6 established that they are entitled to quiet-title relief based on the Federal Foreclosure Bar, so I
7 grant summary judgment in their favor on that claim. But because their theory that Nevada’s 8 HOA foreclosure scheme was unconstitutional before its amendment in October 2015 has been 9 squarely rejected as a matter of law, I grant the Trust’s motion to dismiss that remaining claim 10 and close this case.

11 Discussion

12 A. Fannie Mae and Ditech’s Motion for Summary Judgment [ECF No. 36]

13 1. Legal standard

14 Summary judgment is appropriate when the pleadings and admissible evidence “show 15 there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the movant is entitled to judgment as a 16 matter of law.”¹⁶ When considering summary judgment, the court views all facts and draws all 17 inferences in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party.¹⁷ If reasonable minds could differ
18 on material facts, summary judgment is inappropriate because its purpose is to avoid unnecessary

1 trials when the facts are undisputed, and the case must then proceed to the trier of fact.¹⁸ If the 2 moving party satisfies Rule 56 by demonstrating the absence of any genuine issue of material
3 fact, the burden shifts to the party resisting summary judgment to “set forth specific facts
4 showing that there is a genuine issue for trial.”¹⁹ “To defeat summary judgment, the nonmoving 5 party must produce evidence of a genuine dispute of material fact that could satisfy its burden at 6 trial.”²⁰

8 2. *Fannie Mae is entitled to summary judgment on its Federal Foreclosure Bar-based quiet-title claim.

9 Fannie Mae has demonstrated through its motion and supporting materials that it is 10 entitled to summary judgment on its first quiet-title claim based on the Federal Foreclosure Bar.
11 In Berezovsky v. Moniz, the Ninth Circuit held that “the Federal Foreclosure Bar supersedes the 12 Nevada superpriority lien provision,”²¹ preventing a non-judicial foreclosure sale under NRS
13 Chapter 116 from extinguishing a Fannie Mae deed of trust while this lender is under agency
14 conservatorship. So, the question for me to decide on summary judgment is whether Fannie Mae
15 has shown that its interest in this property was protected from the legal effect of NRS 116.3116
16 by the Federal Foreclosure Bar.

17 The record supports that conclusion, leaving no genuine issue of material fact. There is 18 no dispute that Fannie Mae was under the agency’s conservatorship in 2015. The Trust does 19 dispute, however, whether Fannie Mae has established that the deed of trust belonged to it at the

1 time of the foreclosure sale. Fannie Mae offers the affidavit of its Assistant Vice President 2 Graham Babin and corroborating documents to show that Fannie Mae had a valid and 3 enforceable deed of trust on the property at the time of the sale.²² The Trust contends that Babin
4 has not shown he is “competent to authenticate” the computer records on which his declaration
5 that Fannie Mae owned the deed of trust is based,²³ but I find that Babin’s declaration 6 sufficiently establishes his familiarity with Fannie Mae’s recordkeeping system and the 7 authenticity of the printouts to lay the foundation required by Federal Rule of Evidence 902(11).
8 And it establishes—with no contradictory evidence from the Trust—that the security interest on 9 this property belonged to Fannie Mae at the time of the 2015 foreclosure sale, as it does today.²⁴
10 Although the deed of trust is held in the name of Ditech (formerly known as Green Tree 11 Servicing LLC), Fannie Mae’s documents (including its Single-Family Seller/Servicer Guide²⁵)
12 also show that Ditech is merely its agent for loan-servicing purposes and that the beneficial
13 interest belongs to Fannie Mae.²⁶

14 There is also no evidence in the record that the agency consented to the extinguishment
15 of Fannie Mae’s security interest.²⁷ The Trust argues that the court should imply consent 16 because the agency has failed to develop and adopt a process for third parties to seek its collateral even if the recorded deed of trust names only the owner’s agent,” and concluding that “[a]lthough the recorded deed of trust here omitted Freddie Mac’s name, Freddie Mac’s property interest is valid and enforceable under Nevada law”).

1 consent.²⁸ But nothing in the statute supports the notion that the FHFA should be stripped of its 2 consent right if it fails to timely adopt a procedure for obtaining that consent. To the contrary,
3 “[t]he Federal Foreclosure Bar cloaks the FHFA’s ‘property with Congressional protection
4 unless or until the FHFA affirmatively relinquishes it,’” and “‘the Federal Foreclosure Bar does 5 not require the FHFA to actively resist foreclosure.’”²⁹ Based on this feature of the Federal 6 Foreclosure Bar, the Nevada Supreme Court has expressly rejected the argument that the 7 agency’s or Fannie Mae’s inaction can be construed as consent.³⁰

8 The Trust’s remaining arguments against summary judgment on the Federal Foreclosure 9 Bar theory fail as a matter of law. Its assertions that its purported status as a bona fide or 10 innocent purchaser changes the analysis and that Nevada’s statutes required Fannie Mae’s 11 interest to appear in the property records, are grounded in the notion that Fannie Mae should—12 and could—have easily recorded its interest.³¹ But the Ninth Circuit has held that Fannie Mae 13 has no such obligation to keep its Federal Foreclosure Bar defense. The deed of trust is a 14 recorded lien interest, and “HERA does not require that potential buyers received notice of 15 FHFA’s or [Fannie Mae’s] interests in properties whose sales are prevented by the Federal

20 (Nev. 2018) (quoting Berezovsky, 869 F.3d at 929). The Trust argues that the Christine View
21 case is distinguishable because Fannie Mae’s deed on the Christine View property was recorded.
22 ECF No. 40 at 16. But the recorded nature of that interest did not factor into the Court’s holding 23 in this regard, see Christine View, 417 P.2d at 368. And the Ninth Circuit has held that “the absence of [Fannie Mae’s name] in the mortgage loans’ local recording documents at the time of the HOA sales” does not invalidate that interest or prevent Fannie Mae from invoking the Federal Foreclosure Bar. See Fed. Home Loan Mortg. Corp. v. SFR Invs. Pool 1 LLC (“*Nevada

1 Foreclosure Bar.”³² “Nevada law . . . recognizes that, in an agency relationship” like the one
2 Fannie Mae has demonstrated here, “a note owner remains a secured creditor with a property
3 interest in the collateral even if the recorded deed of trust names only the owner’s agent.”³³ So 4 Fannie Mae’s name need not be on a recorded deed of trust for that interest to be “valid and 5 enforceable under Nevada law.”³⁴

6 The Trust’s contention that the sale is “presumed valid” against Fannie Mae by operation 7 of NRS 116.31166³⁵ fails under the Nevada Supreme Court’s holding in Shadow Wood HOA v.
8 New York Community Bancorp. It is true that NRS 116.31166 states that certain “recitals in a 9 deed . . . are conclusive proof of the matters recited.”³⁶ But in Shadow Wood, the Court
10 explained that “the recitals made conclusive by operation of NRS 116.31166 implicate 11 compliance only with the statutory prerequisites to foreclosure”³⁷ like timely mailing, posting, 12 and recording of notices of sale. Nothing in NRS 116.31166 addresses the Federal Foreclosure 13 Bar; if it did, it would likely be preempted just as NRS 116.3116 is.

14 The remainder of the Trust’s arguments require me to ignore or pervert the holding of 15 Berezovsky, which I decline to do. I conclude that Berezovsky provides the applicable legal 16 principles for Fannie Mae’s Federal Foreclosure Bar theory, that I am bound by those principles, 17 and that Fannie Mae has shown through unrefuted evidence that it is entitled to summary

3 § 4617(j)(3) prevented the 2015 foreclosure sale from extinguishing the first deed of trust.

4 B. The Trust’s Motion to Dismiss [ECF No. 28]

5 Although the Trust has failed to offer any argument in its motion to dismiss or opposition
6 to the motion for summary judgment that pierces the shield created by the Federal Foreclosure
7 Bar, the Trust has demonstrated that Fannie Mae’s other quiet-title theory—that the statutory 8 foreclosure scheme was unconstitutional—fails as a matter of law. This theory is pled based on 9 the Ninth Circuit’s 2016 ruling in Bourne Valley Court Trust v. Wells Fargo Bank that the 10 version of Chapter 116 under which this foreclosure sale was conducted “facially violated 11 mortgage lenders’ constitutional due process rights.”³⁸ But Bourne Valley assumed an 12 interpretation of Chapter 116 that the Nevada Supreme Court has since rejected,³⁹ and the Ninth
13 Circuit has expressly acknowledged that Bourne Valley is no longer good law.⁴⁰ Fannie Mae’s 14 claim based on this due-process-violation theory thus fails as a matter of law, so I grant the 15 Trust’s motion to dismiss it for failure to state a claim for relief.⁴¹
